Darjeeling

Darjeeling, the former summer capital of India under the British Raj, has evolved into one of India's most sought-after hill stations. This picturesque hill destination in West Bengal is ideal for a romantic honeymoon. Darjeeling, nestled among acres of tea estates, is 2,050 metres above sea level and thus has a cool climate all year long. Darjeeling is often clubbed with destinations in Sikkim its neighbouring state, making it a perfect starting point for exploring the wonders of the Eastern Himalayas.

Kurseong

Kurseong is a hill town in West Bengal, India, known for its horticulture, pleasant climate, and flora and fauna. It's a popular destination for nature lovers and adventure seekers, and has many tourist attractions.

Gangtok

Gangtok is the capital of the mountainous northern Indian state of Sikkim. Established as a Buddhist pilgrimage site in the 1840s, the city became capital of an independent monarchy after British rule ended, but joined India in 1975. Today, it remains a Tibetan Buddhist center and a base for hikers organizing permits and transport for treks through Sikkim's Himalayan mountain ranges.

Kalimpong

Kalimpong is an east Indian hill town in the Himalayan foothills of West Bengal. Perched on a ridge above the Teesta River, it's home to colonial-era buildings like MacFarlane Memorial Church, named after a Scottish missionary. South, the hilltop Durpin Monastery, or Zang Dhok Palri Phodang, contains sacred Buddhist scriptures. Deolo Park has landscaped gardens and offers views of the town and surrounding hills.

Bengal Safari

The magnificent Bengal tiger at close quarters

An op to see the huge Bengal tiger at close quarters. There are antlers, monkeys, peacock...but it's the big cats that prowl around that's the main attraction. Haven't seen so many of them...and so close as here in this small sanctuary.

ISKCON Temple

Great spacious ISKCON temple. The ambience inside the main temple is captivating with great artistic expressions on the walls and don't forget to look up and see the drawings on the ceiling. Great story telling. The chanting has a Bengali accent but that's the beauty of this ISKCON temple. You would have options to buy souvenirs for family and friends.

Siliguri, the gate way to the North East India is not only of vital importance to the State of West Bengal but India as a whole. Located at the foot of Himalayas on the verge of Terai, it presents the picturesque glimpse of the Himalayan ranges establishing its inmate charm to a visitor. Though the settlement started initially with the tea plantation and a junction station to change over to the Toy train for Darjeeling in 1880 it acquired the status of Sub Divisional town in 1907. Though by thirties it had gained weightage as a town, it was confirmed Municipal status only in 1950.

The independence of India in 1947 provided a boom for the growth of the town with the continuous streams of inflow of refugees from the then East Pakistan. Siliguri is also re-discovered as the most vulnerable nodal point in the narrow corridor that links North Eastern States with the rest of India. Assam rail link in 1951 and broad gauge railway links with New Jalpaiguri in 1962 paved the way for its unquestionable supremacy as a primary trading Centre not only for Assam but also for Bhutan, Sikkim and Eastern Nepal as well. The Chinese aggression in 1962 and the declaration of National Emergency put the town in the strategic map of India with renewed importance.

Siliguri is located in the narrow corridor connecting North-East with the rest of India with Bhutan in the North-East, Bangladesh in the south and Nepal in the west. Proximity to the international borders with Bangladesh, Nepal, Bhutan, and also China places Siliguri at a strategic significance. In respect of trade, commerce and tourist traffic Siliguri occupies an extremely important position for Sikkim, Assam, Nepal, Bhutan and Bangladesh. Presently Siliguri is the hub of the Rail Road net work in the region connecting Assam, North Bengal, Bhutan, Sikkim and Eastern Nepal with the rest of West Bengal and India. The strategic location in the transportation net work of North Eastern India has helped in its growth as a primary trade and distribution centers of North Bengal.

Siliguri is the largest and fastest growing city in North Bengal. The growth rate in decade 1971- 81 was 57.8%. Considering the rapid growth of the city and inadequate facilities, Siliguri was brought under I.U.D.P programme in 1981 and some urgently needed schemes were taken up which provided some immediate relief in the infrastructure facilities and civic services of the city.
